About me

After completing my MPhil here at Cambridge, I am now undertaking a PhD in Engineering (Manufacturing & Management). I hope to help provide a safe, accessible and non-judgmental atmosphere where both myself and all interested can continue to learn more about Sikhi and its accurate representation in society.

Aims

Having been part of the CU Sikh Society since 2019, I aim to build upon previous efforts to encourage a balance of social, intersocietal and Sikhi related events and initiatives such as:

- Weekly Nitnem and regular Vichaar (discussions) encouraging shared learning for both Sikhs and non-Sikhs alike
- Gurbani Santhiya, Panjabi speaking and (Raag) Kirtan classes/workshops
- Using personal and society connections with Sikh organisations to host a range of religious/wellbeing activities
- Maintaining and further developing collaborations with the Cambridge Gurdwara and liaising with other religious societies (e.g. within and separate from CU).

I feel that the CU Sikh Society serves a vital role in representing, inspiring and enhancing both spiritual and non-spiritual elements of our lives for years to come.
